

Corporate Overview

About EDP

EDP is a specialist Health, Safety & Environment Consultancy with over 15 years of practical, hands-on experience and a team of professional advisors operating from strategic locations across the UK. Wherever you are located, our advisors are on hand to provide guidance, support and training.

With much Health and Safety legislation based on European directives, we can service organisations in EMEA (Europe, Middle East and Africa) and in the Asia Pacific region. By working with a number of clients in these regions, we have gained expertise in working with a variety of legal systems and codes of practice.

We are able to develop cost-effective health and safety solutions that are tailored to your individual needs, without being bureaucratic and which positively impact your culture and bottom line.

Our advisors are drawn from a variety of backgrounds, including the Armed Forces, Emergency Services and Industry. Our senior consultants are Members of the Institute of Occupational Safety and Health (MIOSH) or the Institute of International Risk and Safety Management (MIIRSM); many with additional knowledge and experience in specialist areas.

We encourage and sponsor our employees to constantly improve their expertise and maintain currency through a programme of Continued Professional Development. Our services are delivered to the highest standards of excellence, are comply with current regulations and conform to industry best practice.

Compliance with Health and Safety legislation is a legal requirement for all businesses. One of the government's key objectives under its "Revitalising Health and Safety" initiative is to make health and safety a boardroom issue and highlight the responsibility of every company director for ensuring compliance. To cut through the complex legislation and to maintain a safe working environment, you need to partner with established Health and Safety professionals

Portfolio of Products and Services

Based on more than a decade and a half of assisting clients with their Health and Safety needs, EDP has adopted an innovative and rigorous approach for delivering our services:

edpFULLsystem

Designed for organisations that prefer to outsource their Health and Safety rather than set up their own dedicated department. We assign a consultant to oversee all your day-to-day Health and Safety operations and may be based on your site if you prefer.

edpSOLUTIONS

A comprehensive and flexible service; delivering as many or as few services as you need, when you need them. It's ideal if you already have a Health and Safety management system in place but you need occasional help with a specialist area such as Asbestos or assistance for resource intensive tasks.

edpTRAINING

A requirement for every business is to promote Health and Safety awareness and to enable its staff to translate this knowledge into safer working practices. We help you identify your training requirements and then offer a range of courses to meet your specific needs.

Clients

EDP has clients in the public, private and charity arenas, covering such diverse sectors as Information Technology, Legal, Finance, Housing Associations, Retail, Manufacturing, Engineering, Logistics, Education, Emergency Services, Central and Local Government, and more.

Our clients have come to expect first-class health and safety services to protect their staff, their organisations' reputation and to help them remain ahead of their competitors by having necessary accreditations in place. We believe our customers should be able to rely on EDP to continue to provide the highest quality of service as their health and safety needs grow and become more complex.

More and more organisations are approaching EDP in regard to our edpFULLsystem approach. We are able to effectively take over the day-to-day operations of all or a defined section of our clients' health and safety duties, thereby allowing them to concentrate on their core business activities.

Committed to delivering the highest standard of service, the motivation of everyone at EDP is to make a difference, which is reflected in our client's opinion of the work we do for them. Should you so desire, we would be happy to provide reference contacts or testimonials from existing clients who are either in a similar industry or for whom we've done similar work.

We partner with a number of companies including lawyers, accountants, insurance companies and brokers along with a number of trade federations and affiliate groups, working alongside them to help support their clients' and their members' health and safety needs.

EDP Foundation

Over the years, we have established ourselves as a major player in the field of Health, Safety and the Environment, and we have been fortunate to reap the rewards from that success. From those rewards we have been able to set up and help fund a Charitable Trust with the objective of helping businesses in less privileged parts of the world where health and safety tends to be overlooked in favour of the basic needs of survival. The primary objective of the Trust is to build bridges between more affluent businesses in the developed world and people in less developed areas. We aim to support business entrepreneurship and to allow those who lack the resources to turn their ideas into profitable sources of income. A relatively small investment on our part can provide a Bridge To self sufficiency and prosperity for many in less favourable circumstances. Hence the name of the Trust is 'BRIDGE 2'.