

A New Colour Scheme

1. Go to 'Website Design - Advanced Setup' on the menu.

Each section of your web site in the advanced setup area has colours that can be changed independently from the next. This gives you lots of options to personalise your site style. The image below shows where each section displays its colours.

2. Go to the section that you want to edit in the Advanced Setup area.

Each section has colour options that you can change. Some relate to the background, others for changing borders and one for the font colour.

Enter the Main Content Background Colour:	<input type="text" value="#333399"/>	Choose a colour
Enter the Main Content Border Style:	<input type="text" value="solid"/>	<input type="button" value="v"/>
Enter the Main Content Border Colour:	<input type="text" value="#666666"/>	Choose a colour

3. Selecting Colours

Click on the 'choose a colour' link. This will open up the colour picker palette. Select the colour you want by clicking on it. The reference number for that colour is automatically added to the box (starting with a # the colour reference is known as 'hexadecimal code').

A screenshot of a web settings interface. It shows a form with several input fields. The first field is labeled 'Enter the Main Content Background Colour:' and contains the hex code '#999999'. To its right is a button labeled 'Choose a colour'. Below this, there are three more fields: 'Enter the Main Content Border S...', 'Enter the Main Content Border C...', and 'Enter the Main Content Border W...'. To the right of these fields is a large color palette grid with a mouse cursor hovering over one of the colors.

Other Options

You can also type directly into the text box if you prefer entering your own colour setting. You can't just enter anything. Web browsers display certain colours depending on the word or hexadecimal code that is used.

Words you can enter in the text box include – aqua, black, blue, fuchsia, gray, green, lime, maroon, navy, olive, purple, red, silver, teal, white, and yellow.

Use lowercase text to enter these settings.

4. Go to each section that you want to edit and repeat the above steps to create the look you want.
5. Click submit to save your changes. Click on view website link at the top right of the page to view your changes online.

DON'T FORGET

It's important to keep checking your site and refreshing the browser to see your changes as you work.
